Whereas, Hon. T. C. Richardson is a Nation-wide authority of soil erosion and soil conservation; therefore, be it

Resolved, That Hon. T. C. Richardson be invited to address the House for twenty minutes Wednesday morning from 10:30 to 10:40 o'clock.

The resolution was read second time.

Mr. Alsup offered the following amendment to the resolution:

The resolution, as amended, was adopted.

In accordance with the above action, Mr. Richardson having been escorted to the Speaker's stand, Speaker Stevenson presented Mr. Padgett, who introduced Mr. Richardson.

Mr. Richardson addressed the House.

COMMENDING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

Mr. Petsch offered the following resolution:

H. C. R. No. 41, Commending the President of the United States and members of Congress.

To Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States; to Senators Morris Sheppard, Tom Connally, Carter Glass, and Robinson of Arkansas:

Whereas, The people of the United States are at this time engaged in the most gigantic struggle of American civilization in an effort to firmly establish in our constitutional government those principles of equal rights and privileges to the end that the great resources of the American Nation and its magnanimous principles of equality, guaranteed in the Constitution of the Government and of its several States, shall as much as is humanly possible, be so arranged and so controlled as to give every man an equal share in the material and spiritual blessings which may be afforded by our Commonwealth of Sister States; and

Whereas, The present major problem in the accomplishment of this laudable purpose is to feed the hungry and clothe the naked, and at the same time again restore courage and stimulate the individual ambition of the American citizen to build up his resources so as to be independent of direct governmental support in the matter of securing a livelihood, an education for his children, and a home for old age; and

Whereas, In this struggle the American people are fortunate in the leadership of a great President and courageous Congress, and by virtue of that leadership, enormous progress has heretofore been made toward successful accomplishment; and

Whereas, There is pending in the present Congress the most gigantic appropriation, 4,880 million dollars, ever made by any government in behalf of restoring those things herein just mentioned; and

Whereas, This program has for its foundation the very simple, yet essentially sound, principle that government relief can not possibly succeed unless it be so planned and co-ordinated as to on the one hand keep those without jobs and employment from suffering, yet on the other hand desirous of getting away from relief employment and relief jobs, and again become self-supporting, independent of governmental gratuities and individualistic American citizens as of old; and

Whereas, The past relief program to which our National Administration, of providing relief employment more attractive than private industry could present, has been conclusively established a failure; and

Whereas, In the United States Senate at Washington on the twenty-first day of February, the policy of the President of the United States advocating a program based upon the sound principles herein before set out, was defeated by a combination of selfish interests who would place private gain above the public welfare, by writing into the bill a provision that the Government must pay a "scale of prevailing wage"; and

Whereas, Such a provision in the law would again commit our Government to the same relief policy heretofore established an absolute failure, and would necessitate increasing the appropriation to the amount of 7,200 million dollars, thereby tending to impair the Nation's credit; and

Whereas, The doctrine of paying a "prevailing wage" on relief projects has proved and will continue to prove itself an injustice in that: (a) it requires the common laborer to work from four to ten times as long for a dollar of support as a skilled laborer would have to work, and results in actually depressing the wages of the great multitude of unskilled laborers, and (b) it results in increasing idleness rather than keeping people at work, and (c) has made it impossible for private enterprises to employ skilled laborers in competition with the governmental wage—thereby destroying directly the laudable purposes and humanitarian ends sought to be accomplished by the Government; and

Whereas, The Legislature of the State of Texas is desirous of commending the leadership of our great President, Senators Sheppard, Connally, Carter Glass, Robinson of Arkansas, and other courageous members of the National Congress, and expressing confidence in their patriotism, and the Legislature's belief in their ability to lead our people back to happiness and contentment; now, therefore, be it

Resolved (1), That the spirit and purpose of our Government dictates that its laws, its institutions, and its great resources are the property of all its people, dictated to the equal use and enjoyment of all members of our society, and are not to be appropriated either to organized capital or organized labor to the unfair exclusion of the remaining great body of citizens; and

(2) That it is self-evident that only such a relief program can be finally successful, as is fair alike to organized as well as unorganized labor and alike to private industry and private capital, and which, though protecting the unfortunate from hunger and suffering, would stimulate in all our citizens a desire to go to work for themselves or for private capital, rather than engender in our citizens a longing to remain upon the government relief rolls and even to possibly secure an outright government dole; and

That we commend the humanitarian policies and applaud the courageous leadership of the President of the United States, particularly the Senators named in the resolution, and generally all members of Congress supporting the herein announced fundamental principles of the present recovery program; and

That by the passage of this resolution we assure these named leaders of our faith in their ultimate victory of their fight for the great common good and assuring the stability and permanency of our Government.

PETSCH,
FORD,
JONES of Wise,
KNETSCH,
FRAZER,
CANON,
HODGES,
ALEXANDER.

The resolution was read second time, and was adopted.

PROVIDING FOR JOINT SESSION OF HOUSE AND SENATE TO CELEBRATE TEXAS IN- DEPENDENCE DAY

Mr. McConnell and Mr. Stinson offered the following resolution:

H. C. R. No. 42, Providing for Joint Session of House and Senate to celebrate Texas Independence Day.

Whereas, The bright star of Texas being symbolic of a pioneer people whose history is unexcelled by the annals of any part of the entire world; and

Whereas, For more than two centuries before the beginning of American colonization the great dominion of the Lone Star State was domineered, and under the flags of Spain, France, and Mexico; and

Whereas, There still stands today the colossal walls of their magnificent old missions to bespeak of the days when the great West was truly wild, and as classic monuments to a most colorful history; and

Whereas, We are now planning and preparing for the Texas Centennial celebration; and

Whereas, March 2 being Texas Independence day, it is not only befitting, but advisable and appropriate, that we properly celebrate the birthday of our Lone Star State; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That a Joint Session be held by the Texas Legislature at 11 o'clock a. m., Saturday, March 2, to appropriately celebrate the achievements of the patriots and pioneers who paved the way for our present civilization, who blazed their way to the West, and marked the besetting miles with lonely graves of loved ones, who subdued the hostile savages, and handed to us as a heritage the land in which we live; be it further

Resolved, That a committee, consisting of three members of the House of Representatives and three members of the Senate, be appointed by the Speaker and Lieutenant Governor, respectively, to arrange for such services.

The resolution was read second time, and was adopted.
